Progressive Men of Northern Ohio

CLEVELAND
PLAIN DEALER PUBLISHING CO.
1906

PLAIN DEALER PRESS

THE object of the CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER in compiling and circulating "PROGRESSIVE MEN OF NORTHERN OHIO" is to present in permanent form a list of over one thousand men in the northern half of Ohio who have been successful in their respective communities and in their especial lines of usefulness.

381123

Much time and care have been expended in the compilation of the contents of this volume. The task of gathering photographs and collecting material for more than one thousand sketches has for some months kept a staff of men continually employed. There were delays due to the inability to get portraits at the fixed time and to the hesitancy of some in presenting the short biography necessary to make the work complete. We hope the public to which this book goes will find that the results amply compensate for the time consumed in the preparation.

All the leading professions and occupations are represented. Among them are clergymen, educators, attorneys, physicians, surgeons, dentists, members of the judiciary, United States, state, county and municipal officials, bankers, capitalists, brokers, merchants, manufacturers, real estate and insurance men, coal and oil dealers and operators, contractors, engineers in all the branches, architects, chemists, electric and steam railroad officials, transportation men, iron and steel manufacturers and dealers, automobile interests, lumber men, telephone men, publishers and other spheres of industry and learning.

The photograph of every man included in the book is accompanied by a short, terse sketch of his life and work. There is no attempt made to laud any one or to notice one man above another. The biographies will be found to be of uniform size, and confined closely to a brief outline of the things accomplished by the subject of the sketch.

There has never been a publication of this character in the country. It has been the intention to secure representation in the volume from every town in the northern half of the state. In a large measure, this has been done.

Every newspaper feels the need of a large collection of photographs of men distinguished in their particular lines of activity. It, at the same time, needs a short outline of the lives of the same men. In making this collection of photographs and sketches, the PLAIN DEALER has put in permanent shape these two requirements. The "PROGRESSIVE MEN" will be found in almost daily use in the newspaper offices of the country and in the public libraries and public institutions.

The boards of trade and the chambers of commerce in this country and Canada will have copies in their executive offices, easy of access, and a copy will be in the home of every subscriber.

We believe a work along the lines we have endeavored to follow will be of great benefit to this section, showing as it will, the very best of our citizenship. The work has been thoroughly done. Nothing has been omitted that would make it the most complete record ever attempted. None but progressive and representative men have been accepted——men who have been, or are, identified with the growth and development of Northern Ohio.

Respectfully yours,

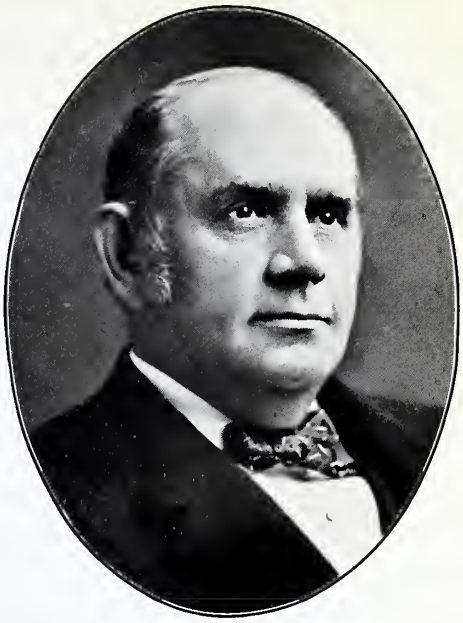

THE PLAIN DEALER PUBLISHING CO.
